

Simplify Your Data Estate Modernization to AWS

Discover Hexaware's Amaze® for your data & analytics platform assessment

Worried About Data Platform Complexity?

In today's AI-first digital landscape, complexities in managing data platforms can affect innovation opportunities. As part of the Carlyle family, Hexaware in partnership with AWS, offers you a unique opportunity to modernize your data landscape faster than ever.

So, what is this opportunity? Hexaware will help you with a comprehensive assessment of your data platform and will work with you to carve out a roadmap and target state architecture for modernizing your data platform with AWS. Leveraging Amaze® that brings an AI-Powered self-service assessment platform and our deep experience in data estate modernization programs, we help you simplify the assessment and planning exercise with absolutely no cost involved.

Begin with Our Zero Cost Offer

Step 1: AI-assisted Data Platform Assessment

- Identify technical challenges, objectives, and complexity in your data estate.
- Assess data layers, ETL pipelines, visualization reports, and governance frameworks.
- Generate a detailed report with tailored recommendations and actionable insights.

Step 2: Guided Workshop and Roadmap Creation

- Attend a half-day guided workshop to dive deeper into data and modernization goals.

- Analyse findings collaboratively, identify critical priorities, and address potential gaps.
- Carve out a target state architecture and path to transform your data platform.

Hexaware will support you with the above two steps free of cost and will help you understand the next steps involved and roadmap to be followed for modernizing your data landscape on to the AWS platform. Once this assessment exercise is completed, we will help you execute the whole data estate transformation program with high levels of quality and automation.
