

Hexaware's License Clearing Utility: Automating Software Asset Management at Scale

Flyer

The Challenge

Effective software asset management requires accurate and complete data. While usage and installation data flow automatically, IT asset management teams face a critical bottleneck: financial and entitlement data demands significant manual effort to clean and validate.

The problem intensifies because each software publisher has unique requirements, licensing terms, and product conditions. Teams must revalidate data against publisher-specific terms every single cycle. This manual work in entitlement error correction is rarely reusable, leading to repetitive, time-consuming tasks that drain resources and delay critical software license management decisions.

The Solution: From Raw to Reliable

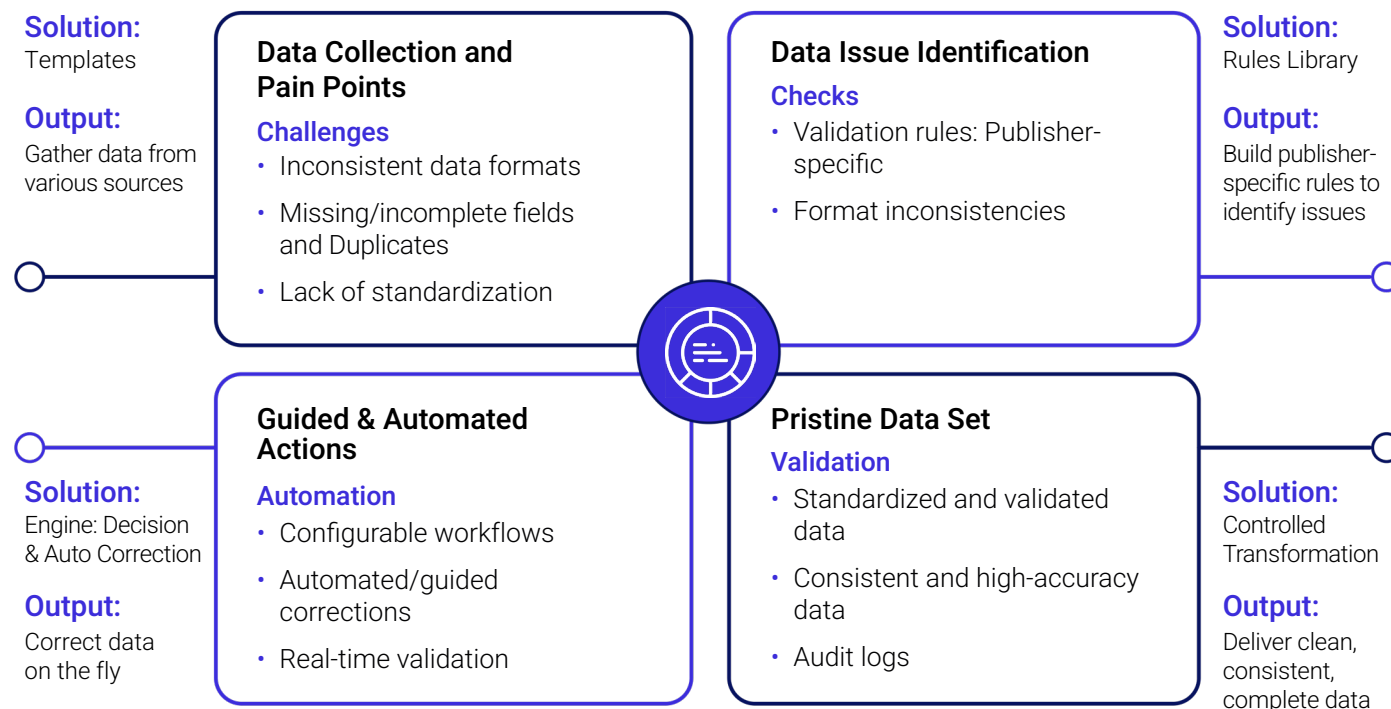

Hexaware's license clearing utility eliminates manual entitlement management through intelligent, reusable automation. Our four-stage solution transforms data quality for license compliance automation:

- 1. Standardized Data Collection: Templates gather data from multiple sources, addressing inconsistent formats, missing fields, duplicates, and lack of standardization
- 2. Publisher-Intelligent Detection: Rules library applies publisher-specific validation automatically, identifying format inconsistencies and entitlement mismatches before they cascade through your software asset management system
- 3. Automated Correction: Decision engine with configurable workflows delivers guided and automated entitlement error correction in real-time. Correct data on the fly with minimal manual intervention.
- 4. Pristine Data Delivery: Controlled transformation outputs standardized, validated, audit-ready data with complete logs for governance and compliance.
