

AI-Powered Contract Review and Document Analysis

Flyer

Every merger, acquisition, audit, and financial review depends on timely, accurate information. Yet legal and finance teams often spend valuable time reviewing contracts, validating financial documents, and preparing reports manually. Inconsistent interpretation of contract language and limited visibility across large document sets can delay decisions, increase compliance risk, and make every transaction more complex. Modern organizations need more than faster document reviews.

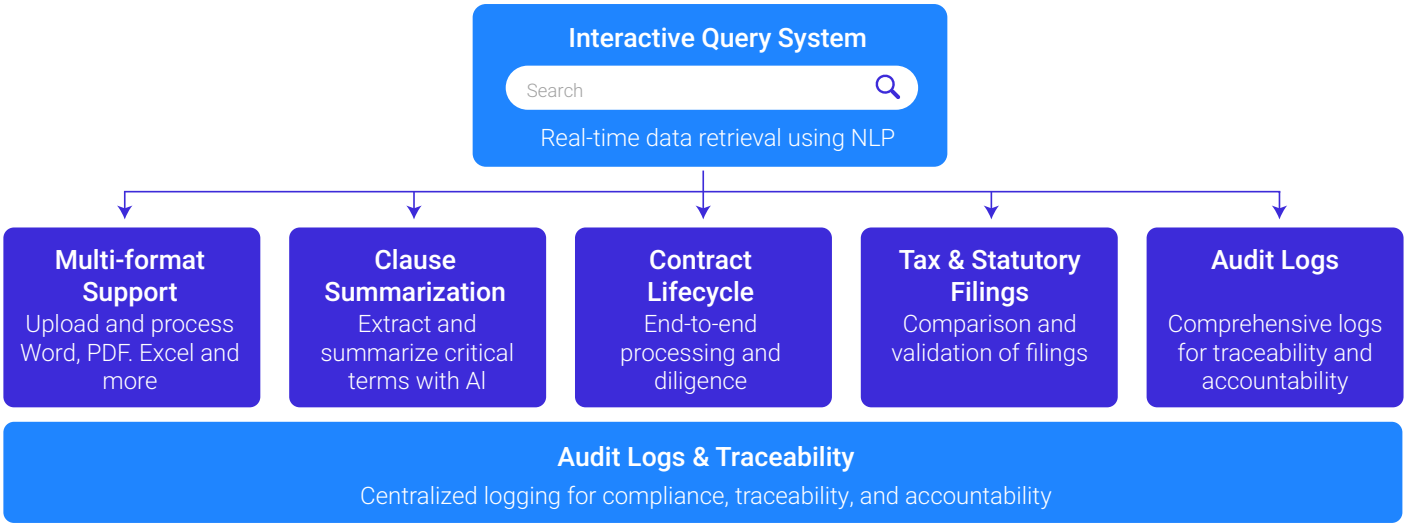

They need an AI-powered solution that transforms contract review and document analysis into a faster, smarter, and more reliable process.

Introducing Hexaware’s AI-Powered Corporate Finance and Legal GPT

Built on Microsoft Azure AI Search, the solution ingests multi-format documents, normalizes content, and uses natural language processing to answer questions, extract key clauses, generate automated reports, and maintain complete audit trails. Its cloud-native, event-driven architecture delivers the speed, scalability, and governance required for enterprise document processing.
